SECTION A – TECHNICAL INFORMATION

1 INTRODUCTION

The Council for Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) is one of the leading scientific research and technology development organisations in Africa. In partnership with national and international research and technology institutions, CSIR undertakes directed and multidisciplinary research and technology innovation that contributes to the improvement of the quality of life of South Africans. The CSIR's main site is in Pretoria while it is represented in other provinces of South Africa through regional offices. The CSIR has nine Clusters including Advanced Agri and Food, Chemicals, Defence and Security, Manufacturing, Mining, NextGen Enterprises and Institutions, Next Gen Health, Smart Logistics as well as Smart Places.

The fourth industrial revolution is significantly impacting competitiveness. The digitalisation of industry is characterised by technology convergence that is impacting the way data is organised, analysed and shared. This includes the migration of services into the cloud via apps; data collection and integration enabled by the Internet of Things; big data, trend and optimisation analyses powered by artificial intelligence; and mobile computing supporting AR/VR human enhancement.

These trends have become increasingly evident in the priority focus sectors of the Manufacturing Cluster, which are:

- Metals, Machinery & Mining Equipment
- Automotive
- Health (Medical Devices)
- Aerospace & Defence

The Manufacturing Cluster is transitioning to an updated strategy that will see the development of capabilities relevant to current industry requirements around 4IR. Based on current industry trends, the cluster's strategic goal and objectives are to use digital transformation and 4IR technologies to contribute towards the re-industrialisation of South African manufacturing industries.

2 BACKGROUND

The CSIR Manufacturing Cluster is seeking the support of a globally reputable strategy innovation and adoption firm with the following demonstrated track record.

- Deep level understanding on the challenges and gaps faced by the local and global manufacturing industry with regards to aspects of economic competitiveness, efficiencies, trends in technology and innovation
- Demonstrated experience with adoption of technologies which includes the development of an innovation culture and transformation. These should include technology strategies that addresses and supports ESG (Environmental, Social, and Corporate Governance) drivers in manufacturing
- Experience in developing ecosystem strategy roadmaps
- Experience with venture capital, innovation and start-up companies
- Demonstrated stakeholder relations management which includes private, public and government partnerships
- Diverse experience with industries that are aligned to the priority areas identified above
- Demonstrated experience with accustomed to handling sensitive information
- Systems thinking capability

Support is required to develop a Manufacturing Cluster Innovation strategy and transition roadmap that identifies the R&D needs of the industry that advise the establishment of critical capabilities and technologies. The roadmap has to make recommendations on the most suitable implementation of a strategy, including, but not necessarily limited to business models, capabilities, technologies, supporting functions, systems, processes, tools and other elements where appropriate, in line with global best practice. A critical outcome of the roadmapping process is the engagement between CSIR and SMME industry stakeholders to achieve shared understanding of a vision and objectives. This must be kept in mind to all parties intending to submit a response to this RFP.

3 INVITATION FOR PROPOSAL

Proposals are hereby invited for the supply of professional services to the CSIR to develop a Manufacturing Innovation strategy and transition roadmap aligned with the CSIR organisational strategy.

4 PROPOSAL SPECIFICATION

The CSIR requires support from a service provider/s for the following services relating to Manufacturing Innovation strategy development to specifically support SMMEs within the identified priority sub sectors.

- Detailed trend assessment and value chain analysis (incl. potential shifts in the value chains over time) for the prioritised local manufacturing sub sectors and identify differences, if any, to the global value chains for these sub sectors. Assessment to look at a three (3)-five (5) year time horizon
- Identify gaps in the RSA advanced manufacturing sector innovation system based on the value chain
- Map the local industry landscape to the relevant value chains and indicate key strategic industry relationships/partnerships that CSIR should pursue and which of the gaps these partnerships would assist in closing
- Engage each of the identified strategic industry stakeholders (together with CSIR in supporting role) to:
 - Identify potential technologies, products, and RD&I services that CSIR should consider developing for addressing the gaps and innovation needs of the local industry landscape for the priority sectors according to its value chain
 - Identify barriers to uptake of advanced manufacturing and 4IR related technologies and systems (technology diffusion) in the prioritised manufacturing sectors and indicate which elements of the value chain the technologies contribute towards
 - Identify best practices for increasing uptake of digital transformation and 4IR technologies within the priority manufacturing sectors (including production technology, supply chain integration & management technology and business process technology) and indicate which elements of the value chain these technologies contribute towards
- Based on the assessment above, conduct a Feasibility-Potential Return/Impact analysis of technology opportunities based on the existing RD&I capabilities that CSIR Manufacturing Cluster.

Important considerations for the development of the roadmap:

- “RD&I capabilities” is understood to include relevant 1) methodologies, processes, procedures and techniques, 2) modelling and simulation infrastructure, 3) test and evaluation infrastructure, 4) laboratories, and 5) skills and expertise of staff.
- ESG (Environmental, Social, and Corporate Governance) drivers in manufacturing must be built into the proposal
- The roadmap is an “industry-driven” roadmap focussing on the needs of SMMEs
- A critical outcome of the road mapping process is the engagement between CSIR and SMME industry stakeholders to achieve shared understanding of a vision and objectives.
- The CSIR team will be part of the roadmap and strategy development process with the target stakeholder base.
- The final product is required 3-4 months after appointment of the successful bidder.

5 DELIVERABLES

The following key deliverables are required as outcomes of this work:

1. A detailed report documenting the analysis and culminating into a Feasibility-Potential Return/Impact assessment of identified opportunities (all references used must be captured)
2. A detailed opportunity/offering evolution roadmap with RDI project pipeline and implementation plan over a ten (10) year horizon.
3. A qualitative assessment between the analysis and the draft CSIR Manufacturing cluster strategy and business plan. Recommendations for improvement of the draft CSIR Manufacturing cluster strategy and business plan must be provided – in the context of the CSIR mandate and strategic intent

6 TIMELINE

The final product is required approximately three (3) – four (4) months after appointment of the successful bidder.
