1 INTRODUCTION

The Council for Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) is one of the leading scientific research and technology development organisations in Africa. In partnership with national and international research and technology institutions, the CSIR undertakes directed and multidisciplinary research and technology innovation that contributes to the improvement of the quality of life of South Africans. The CSIR's main site is in Pretoria while it is represented in other provinces of South Africa through regional offices.

For more than two (2) decades the CSIR – through NextGEN Enterprises and Institutions pursued the goal of making a fundamental difference to computer literacy and associated skills through the development and use of the Digital Doorway (DD). The DD initiative is underpinned by the concept of people's inherent cognitive ability to teach themselves computer-related skills with minimal external intervention. It provides a mechanism for unassisted learning to allow a user to become functionally computer literate. Deployment of a variety of configurations of DD computer systems in the country is enabling communities to learn through experimentation.

To date, CSIR has deployed multiple DD containers, ICT labs and iSchool implementations country-wide. Descriptions for the different type of implementations are provided below.

DD Containers: A custom solar powered container (Figure 1) with 3 computer terminals, a Media Server, a Raspberry Pi Management System (DDMS), a WiFi Access point and an LTE router for connectivity.

ICT Lab: Multiple computer workstations, a Media Server, and connectivity equipment installed in a physical brick and mortar building. Hardware consists of a 19" rack containing the Media Server, a KVM tray, LAN Switches, UPS and Distribution Board. Included in the installation are a WiFi Access point and an LTE router providing connectivity. There are 2 different configurations for the ICT Lab workstations – either multiple Hexagonal ISO panel housings (Figure 2) with 6 computer terminals per housing, or multiple Lip Channel housings with 3 computer terminals per housing (Figure 3).

iSchool: A physical brick and mortar room at a School with a 19” rack containing a Media server (Figure 4), a KVM tray, LAN Switches, UPS and Distribution Board. Included in the installation are a WiFi Access point and an LTE router for connectivity.

The requirement is for a service provider to refurbish, relocate and upgrade a mixture of DD Container, ICT Lab & iSchool sites for the CSIR.
